

Recommended Order Quantity

We often get the question from our clients how many outfits we would recommend for each employee. We would be happy to give you advice on this matter.

The lifespan and depreciation period of the investment in your wardrobe depends on the package quantities. We see that excessive wear at the companies where minimal packages are provided while companies that facilitate a large package garment hardly have any replacement.

The ideal situation is in the middle. In any case, our advice is to ensure that employees do not have to wash extra because all their company clothing is dirty. Make sure your employees can put on a clean top every day, also from a hygienic point of view.

Based on working days per week we recommend the following order quantities per employee.
